

BookYappy+ Terms of Use (EULA)

Last Updated: Jul 30, 2025

1. General Terms

These terms apply to the BookYappy+ subscription service, not the free version of BookYappy.

Welcome to the BookYappy+ subscription service!

To use the subscription service (hereinafter referred to as the "Subscription Service"), you should read and comply with the "Subscription Service Terms" (hereinafter referred to as "these Terms").

2. Content of Subscription Service

After receiving or activating the Subscription Service through payment, you can continuously access all the features included in the pro / membership version of BookYap during the corresponding service period.

3. Continuous Weekly, Monthly, and Annual Subscription Services

The continuous monthly service is an automatic renewal service provided to you under the premise that you have activated the Subscription Service. If you activate the continuous monthly or annual service, it is considered that you authorize BookYappy to deduct the fee for the next billing cycle from your own recharge account, third-party payment account bound with BookYap, bank card, communication account, iTunes account (hereinafter referred to as "Account"), etc., for the monthly card service fee 24 hours before the expiration of the current billing cycle.

You need to bind BookYappy with the aforementioned account and ensure that there is sufficient balance to support the deduction. You will bear the corresponding consequences if the renewal fails due to insufficient balance in the above account.

BookYappy has the final right to interpret this user agreement.
